

ABSTRACT

A player apparatus for compact discs and similar signal carriers provided with a disc storage unit. The storage unit having the disc holder for holding discs arranged as an integral part of player apparatus. Storage unit arranged to store discs in a manner which allow placing stored discs parallel to the disc which is positioned into drive for playback/recording, therefore the allowing storing additional discs without significant increasing of external dimensions of the player apparatus.